

St. Luke

October 18

Who was St. Luke?

St. Luke was a significant figure in early Christianity and an important contributor to the New Testament. He is believed to be a physician and an artist, known for his skills in painting and writing. St. Luke was not one of the original apostles but became a close companion of the Apostle Paul, who played a crucial role in spreading the teachings of Jesus Christ.

St. Luke is best known for writing the Gospel of Luke and the Acts of the Apostles, both of which are essential books in the Bible. The Gospel of Luke narrates the life, teachings and miracles of Jesus Christ, while the Acts of the Apostles tells the story of the early Christian Church and the spread of Christianity after Jesus' death and resurrection.

As a close companion of St. Paul and a diligent observer of the events surrounding Jesus' life, St. Luke's writings are valuable sources of information about the early Christian community and the teachings of Jesus. His works are not only historical accounts but also sources of inspiration and guidance for Christians worldwide.

St. Luke is considered a saint in the Christian tradition because of his dedication to spreading the word of Jesus Christ through his writings and his commitment to serving God. His contributions to the Bible have been treasured by generations of believers, and his life of faith and service continues to inspire people to this day. His feast day is celebrated on October 18th as a reminder of his significant role in the early Church and his lasting impact on Christian spirituality and understanding.

Quotes

"Love your enemies, do good to those who hate you."

"For with God nothing will be impossible."

"Take care to guard against all greed, for though one may be rich, one's life does not consist of possessions."

Prayer

In the name of the Father, and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit;

Most wonderful St. Luke you were inspired by the Heavenly Spirit of Love.
In faithfully detailing
the humanity of Jesus,
you also showed His Divinity and His genuine compassion for all human beings.

May the Holy Spirit,
instructor of the faithful,
help us to understand Christ's words
and faithfully apply them
In our own lives.
Amen.
